It's a map. It goes from 45 to Slaughter Ln and Common's Ford Metro Park to Walter E. Long Lake. It's light weight, regular sized, and the letter size is normal. Larger letters mean larger map and yes, unfortunately, that means if you have trouble seeing small things you're going to need a magnifying glass. What I didn't like was how quickly it tore within a couple minutes of normal handling. Maps are supposed to be reusable so minus 1 star for lack of durability. If you're going to open it and put it on the wall (what I bought it for) then this is the map for you

Five Star Maps have made a beautiful map; but.... the text (street names) is so tiny as to render it useless, unless you have a magnifying glass and bright light.

It's a standard map. No problems.

Great for helping a new driver learn where everything is in Austin

Map was dated. Didn't even have the route my daughter's home is on. Worthless to me.

Best map around.
