

The book was found

I Don't Have Your Eyes

Synopsis

I Don't Have Your Eyes... but I have your way of looking at things. This begins beautifully illustrated and uplifting book that help to create the intimate parent/caregiver and child bond that is so important within a family. While others may notice the physical differences, there are so many ways we can celebrate the commonality that makes us truly family. We don't look the same on the outside, but in our hearts, we are the same.

Book Information

Hardcover: 32 pages

Publisher: EMK Press (November 2003)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0972624422

ISBN-13: 978-0972624428

Product Dimensions: 10.2 x 0.4 x 9.1 inches

Shipping Weight: 13.6 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.1 out of 5 stars 36 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #489,187 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #200 in Books > Children's Books > Growing Up & Facts of Life > Family Life > Adoption #433 in Books > Children's Books > Growing Up & Facts of Life > Difficult Discussions > Prejudice & Racism #1502 in Books > Children's Books > Growing Up & Facts of Life > Friendship, Social Skills & School Life > Self-Esteem & Self-Respect

Age Range: 4 - 8 years

Grade Level: Preschool - 3

Customer Reviews

...but I have your way of looking at things I Don't Have Your Eyes, but I have your way of looking at things....begins this beautifully illustrated and uplifting book that helps to create the intimate parent/caregiver and child bond that is so important within a family. While others may notice the physical differences, there are so many ways we can celebrate the commonality that makes us truly family. We don't look the same on the outside, but in our hearts, we are the same.

This is my new favorite children's book on adoption to share with your children, I Don't Have Your Eyes. My youngest daughter said those very words with tears in her eyes on her Forever Family Day in the courthouse right after the ceremony. She had run to the restroom and stared in the mirror searching for evidence of a change, anticipating her eyes changing to match mine when the adoption was complete! With a smile on my face, and a giggle in my head, I was able to tell her "but you have my heart". Her tears turned to giggles and smiles. Now we have this book to help us keep giggling together over having matching hearts.

I Don't Have Your Eyes, written by Carrie A. Kitze and illustrated by Rob Williams, is a great picture book for an interracial family. This is a book that celebrates the differences and the similarities between children and the parents who may not look like them. There is a difference between race and culture. Race comes from shared biological features; culture comes from shared experiences and values. This book, in a very simple and easy to understand way, is all about the difference between the two: a child may not be the same race as their other family members or friends, but they do have shared culture with them. Their eyes might be a different shape, but they view the world through a similar lens. This is a good one for transracial adoptees or interracial families to help affirm that, though they may not look like family members, they still have a lot of similarities, strengths, and love between them all the same. The illustrations and tone of the book are very gentle and empowering, and a wide variety of different kinds of families are depicted throughout. This review originally appeared on ABookandaHug.com

I Don't Have Your Eyes by Carrie A. Kitze presents a variety of parent/child racial and ethnic pairings that reflects great diversity. Its simple, spare text details the ways individual children differ a parent and then follows with another way in which they are same. Kitze's message: each of us is unique and have traits that are valued by families. Our differences enrich the family while our commonalities knit us together. This book appears on many lists as a favorite among adoptive families. It has broad appeal for many diverse families, not just a single ethnicity. It is relevant even to families who share ethnicity, race and culture because each of us are unique and in some ways each of us differs from our other family members. AQ* Lens: The key message here is that differences do not need to divide families nor do they need to be minimized or dismissed; differences can be noticed, appreciated and valued. An adopted child most know, feel & believe they are accepted for whom they authentically are. Because Rob Williams' illustrations display such a broad spectrum of looks, children from many ethnicities and diverse backgrounds can enjoy this book. --Gayle H. Swift, "ABC Adoption & Me: A Multicultural Picture Book"

Finalized adoption of a child on national adoption day. The local CASA gifted this book to us. My son loves all the big photos and at just 18 months old was trying to recite the words back to me as I read it to him. We loved it so much we purchased another copy to gift to our friend who is adopting internationally.

Perfect gift for a child who has been adopted. Meaningful text, not a contrived "adoption book."

Such a great book for adopting parents!

My child reads this book almost daily. It gives a simple understanding that although we don't physically look a like, we have other similarities that bond us together. Very well written and sweet book for all ages.

I recently gave this book as a shower gift for my niece who adopted a 2 1/2 year old little girl. Everyone at the shower read the entire book and just loved it! Michelle says Austina always brings this book to her during reading time. I will remember this book for future adoptive families.

Download to continue reading...

The Life-Changing Magic of Not Giving a F*ck: How to Stop Spending Time You Don't Have with People You Don't Like Doing Things You Don't Want to Do The Life-Changing Magic of Not Giving a F*ck: How to Stop Spending Time You Don't Have with People You Don't Like Doing Things You Don't Want to Do (A No F*cks Given Guide) I Don't Have Your Eyes The Aisles Have Eyes: How Retailers Track Your Shopping, Strip Your Privacy, and Define Your Power Don't Trust, Don't Fear, Don't Beg: The Extraordinary Story of the Arctic 30 Could Have, Would Have, Should Have: Inside the World of the Art Collector Manga Drawing Books How to Draw Manga Eyes: Learn Japanese Manga Eyes And Pretty Manga Face (Drawing Manga Books : Pencil Drawings for Beginners) (Volume 4) Trees and Shrubs (Yesterday's Classics) (Eyes and No Eyes Book 5) Plant Life in Field and Garden (Yesterday's Classics) (Eyes and No Eyes Series) Through The Eyes Of Jesus Trilogy (Through the Eyes of Jesus) Biology Through the Eyes of Faith: Christian College Coalition Series (Through the Eyes of Faith Series) A Collar In My Pocket: Blue Eyes/Brown Eyes Exercise Psychology Through the Eyes of Faith (Through the Eyes of Faith Series) Lebanon: Through Writers' Eyes (Through Writers' Eyes) New Mexico: A Guide for the Eyes (Guides for the Eyes) Don't Cross Your Eyes...They'll Get Stuck That Way!: And 75 Other Health Myths Debunked Don't Roll Your Eyes: Making In-Laws into Family Please Don't Bite the Baby (and Please Don't Chase the Dogs): Keeping Your Kids and Your Dogs Safe and Happy Together How to Have Your Dream Wedding for Under $1,500: How to Have Your Dream Wedding Without Breaking the Bank! (Budget Wedding) Don't Look in His Eyes

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help